

(1) Title of the paper

Complex optical pulse shaping in nonlinear multimode optical fibers

(2) Name, affiliation, and email of each author:

Alessandro Tonello, University of Limoges, France, Alessandro.Tonello@unilim.fr

Vincent Couderc, University of Limoges, France, vincent.couderc@xlim.fr

Katarzyna Krupa, University of Bourgogne, France, katarzyna.krupa@u-bourgogne.fr

Guy Millot, University of Bourgogne, France, guy.millot@u-bourgogne.fr

Daniele Modotto, Università di Brescia, daniele.modotto@unibs.it

Evgeny Podivilov, Novosibirsk State University, Russia, podivilov@iae.nsk.su

Denis Kharenko, Novosibirsk State University, Russia, kharenko@iae.nsk.su

Sergey Babin, Novosibirsk State University, Russia, babin@iae.nsk.su

Stefan Wabnitz, Sapienza University of Rome, Italy, stefan.wabnitz@unibs.it

(3) Mailing address:

Dipartimento di Ingegneria dell'Informazione, Elettronica e Telecomunicazioni, Via Eudossiana 18, 00184, Rome, Italy

(4) Telephone/ Fax numbers:

+39-3927932437

(5) Corresponding author and Presenting author:

Stefan Wabnitz

(6) Session Topic or Session organizer.

Focus session SC3 on Multimode Nonlinear Optical Fibers, Organizers: Stefan Wabnitz and Demetri Psaltis

Abstract

We review recent theoretical and experimental progress in the nonlinear optics of multimode optical fibers. In particular, we outline the rich and complex nonlinear pulse shaping mechanisms, leading to entirely new ways to control the propagation of optical pulses in the spatial, temporal, frequency, and polarization dimensions.